Afterwards, you might enjoy searching the online collections of The British Museum or The Met Museum to view other artefacts from ancient Sumer, ancient Egypt or the Indus Valley.

4. Use your existing knowledge and research skills to match each of the civilisations to the correct information.

ancient Sumer
c4500–c1900 BC

This civilisation lived in cities, towns, villages, and countryside estates near the banks of the Nile. This location provided freshwater, fertile farmland and land suitable for building. The population of this civilisation lived in and around two busy capital cities called Thebes and Memphis. Their rulers were kings or queens named pharaohs. Famous pharaohs include King Narmer, King Hatshepsut, King Akhenaton and King Tutankhamun.

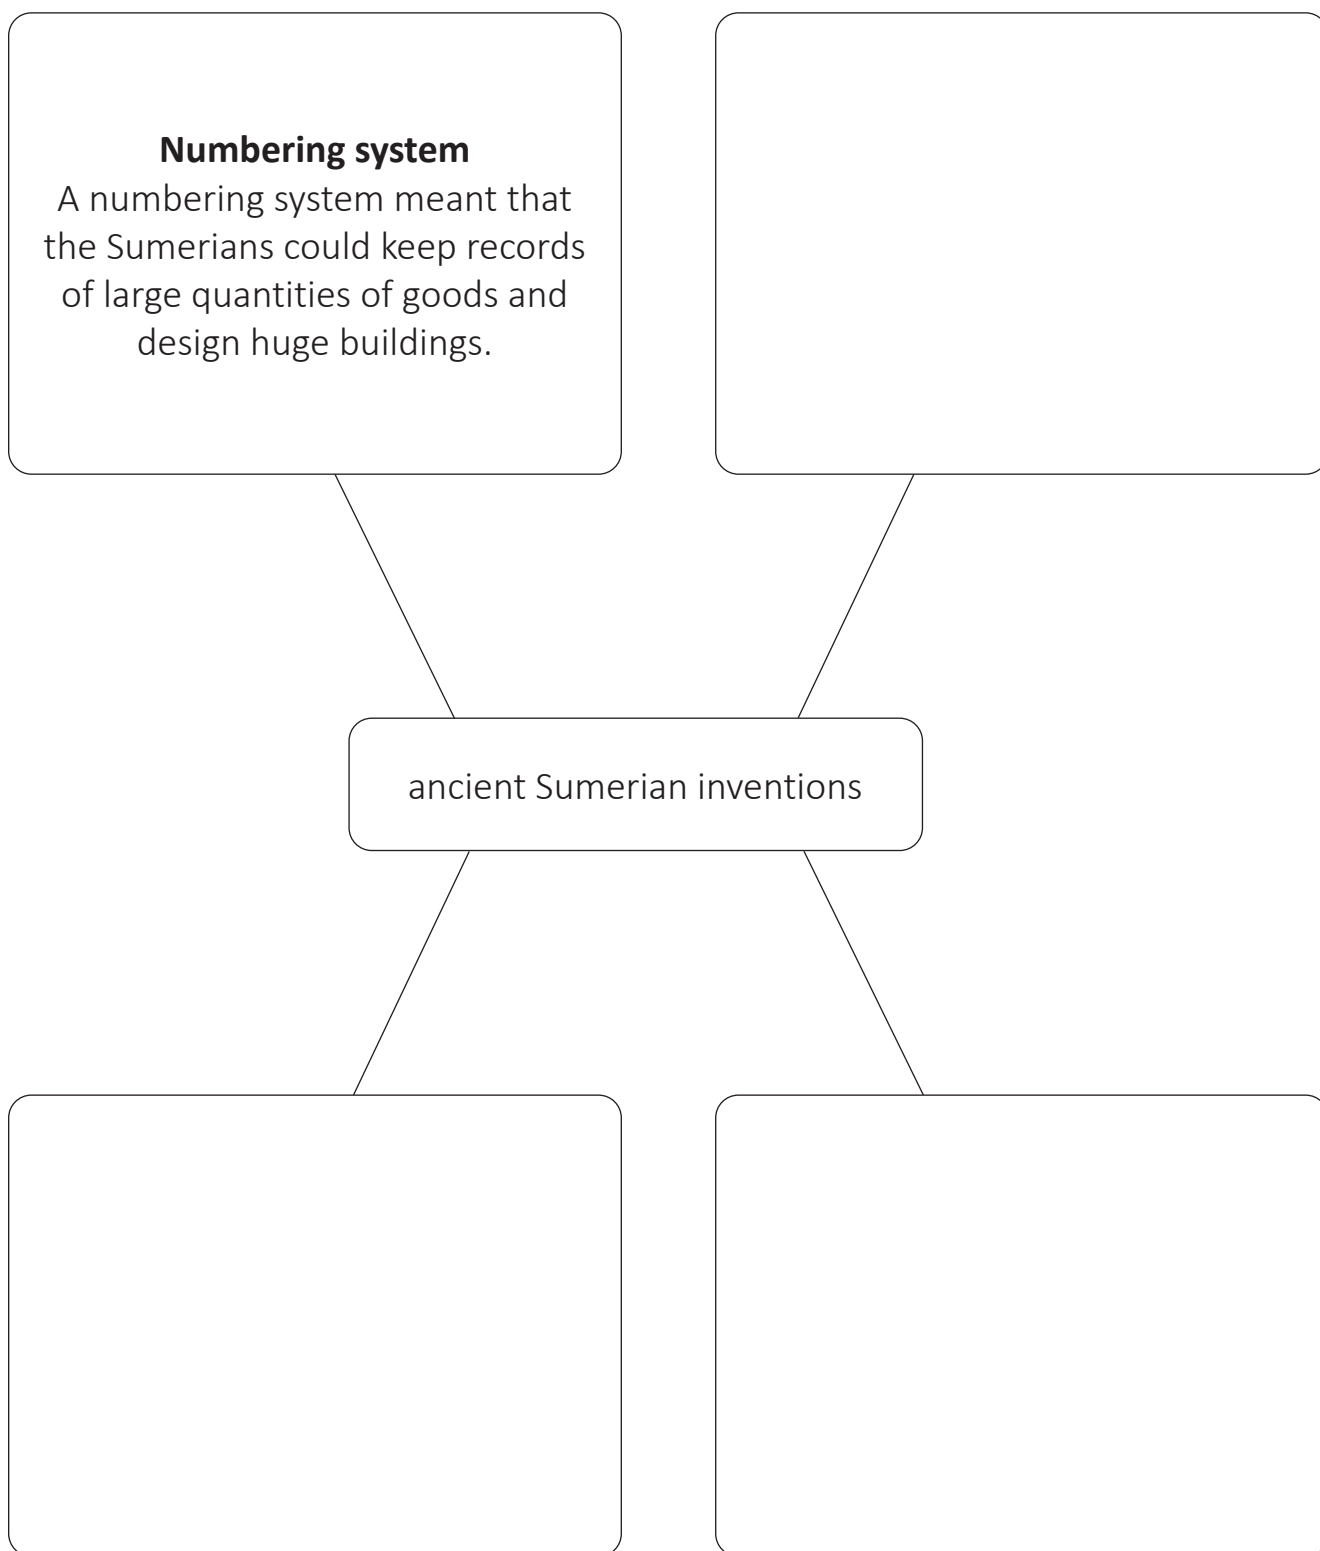

ancient Egypt
c3100–30 BC

This civilisation built thousands of cities and settlements along the banks of the Indus River, which is in modern Pakistan. Two of the largest cities that archaeologists have discovered are called Harappa and Mohenjo-daro. Archaeologists believe that they are the world's first planned cities, with the earliest known sewerage and drainage systems.

Indus Valley
c2500–c1700 BC

This was the world's first civilisation. This civilisation settled in an area of the Fertile Crescent in Mesopotamia. They settled near the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. Here, the soil was full of nutrients and perfect for growing crops. The people of this civilisation invented many things, including a brick mould, irrigation and the plough.

5. What did the ancient Sumerians invent, and how did these inventions make work easier and improve everyday life? Use information books and the internet to answer this question. Record information on the mind map. Expand on the information in your mind map by writing a summary to answer the enquiry question.

What did the ancient Sumerians invent, and how did these inventions make work easier and improve everyday life?

6. Use information books or the internet to find out about pharaohs of ancient Egypt. Choose two pharaohs that you find interesting, draw a picture of them, record the dates of their reign and write a fascinating fact about each one.

Name: _____

Date of reign: _____
